

ABSTRACT

Treatments for solid substrates to enhance the durability thereof. The treatments are silicon-containing treatments that form silicon-containing networks on the substrate in a very rapid manner after the incipient components are applied to the solid substrate.

5